

Enhance Your Human Capital Management Offering

Integrating rapid and reliable employee communications into your solution helps you sell more, faster.

As most companies scale back new initiatives and reduce resources, protecting and growing your revenue is more important than ever. Your competitive edge is secured by offering your consumers something no one else can.

For Human Capital Management solutions, in particular, rapid and reliable employee communications provides organizations real value. By partnering with Varolii, you can reduce unnecessary costs and boost revenue for your customers by keeping their employees, and other stakeholders, better connected during planned and unplanned events.

Grow More Revenue

In an economic downturn, a partnership with Varolii can help you achieve your revenue objectives by giving you more to sell and providing more value to your customers. You'll gain real competitive differentiation - all with minimal impact on your internal resources because we are a hosted technology provider.

How Varolii Enhances Your Solution

Human Capital Management communications enablement include:

SCHEDULING: Within a workforce management system, Varolii can automatically send notifications to managers when an employee fails to report to work, contact alternate employees for assignments, or send alerts to locate specialized employees. In addition, employees are able to fully interact with the system and respond to automated messages, thereby creating quick visibility into staff availability.

BENEFITS: When a participant's time is running out to enroll in COBRA, Varolii can provide reminder alerts. If a COBRA payment is due, Varolii can provide a detailed alert to the participant. Or for tuition reimbursement, date due alerts can be sent automatically by Varolii to the applicants and their approvers. In addition, audit trails can be created to quickly and accurately determine which employees have and have not responded.

EMPLOYEE ACCOUNTABILITY: During an emergency or critical event such as a snow storm, facility closing, or hurricane, Varolii can be used to rapidly contact all employees on multiple devices, and receive feedback on employee status.

RECRUITING SOLUTIONS: Varolii can be used to automatically determine the availability of candidates for fast, efficient, and streamlined scheduling with them on any device type.
